Topics for Experts

The articles in the Write for Shiksha Series endeavor to answer 3 broad questions that occur in the minds of students:

Learn

What will I learn in a particular program/course/specialization?

Create

What kinds of solutions or products will I learn to create in a particular program/ course/specialization?

Career

What kind of opportunities open up for me after a particular program/ course/specialization?

Experts are most welcome to pick any topic/course or approach that they feel would be relevant for students. Here are some suggested approaches that you may choose from for your first article:

1. Course overview

- Academic background needed at UG/PG level to be eligible for the course
- Help aspirants understand what they will learn/study and get a perspective
- Elaborate on the skills/aptitude required to be successful in this field

2. What does one study in a course

 Syllabus overview to help an aspirant understand the nature of studies involved and his/her aptitude for the course

3. Careers after a course or specialization – Scope & opportunities

- Job profiles available after graduation/ post-graduation
- Employment and opportunity trends

4. Academic pursuits after a course – Scope & opportunities

Subsequent degrees and specializations students can pursue

5. Top Market Trends in a course or a specialization

- Cover what courses and specialization are upcoming and are in demand, or what the future could hold
- How has the career landscape changed over the last 5-10 years in terms of courses, job profiles, remuneration, popularity, etc.

6. Course or Specialization Comparison

 Comparing on the basis of eligibility criteria to join the courses, earning potential, career opportunities etc.

Articles under the Write for Shiksha Series will carry your introduction, comprising a brief professional profile and your photograph. Your University/institute page will also be linked with your profile. Kindly provide these details while submitting your article to publish@shiksha.com

